1. Champion Dominance Over Time: Constructors vs. Drivers

The proportion of championship constructor (team) wins against the proportion of driver wins for each season (out of total races per season).
(Note: * = tie)
3. Greatest of All Time: Lewis Hamilton

Proportion of podiums (1st to 3rd place finishes) and proportion of finishes over 10th place (and thus scoring no points) by year and constructor (color), for each driver considered to be the greatest of all time (GOAT).
Best of F1: Champions Over Time

1. Champion Dominance Over Time: Constructors vs. Drivers

2. F1 World Driver Champions

3. Greatest of All Time: Lewis Hamilton

F1, or Formula 1, is the world's most presitgious motor racing competition. Single drivers compete in teams of two for constructors: drivers win races for themselves (contributing to their standing in the World Drivers' Championship, or WDC), or for constructors (contributing to the Constructors' Championship).

1. How dominant have winners of the WDC and constructors championships been over time, in terms of total races won per season?

2. Few drivers have won the WDC more than once. How do World Driver Champions compare to one another, in terms of career wins (size) and number of WDCs (color)?

3. Two drivers have won more WDCs than any other. Fans debate which one is the Greatest of All Time: Lewis Hamilton or Michael Schumacher. In terms of their podium rate (1st-3rd place finishes) and their no points rate (>10th place finishes), how do they compare?
